

HOW AM I PERSONALLY AFFECTED BY MY DAILY EXPERIENCES OF RACE, GENDER, POWER AND CLASS?

Our lives are continually impacted by the values and beliefs placed by our culture on race, gender identity and class. The intersecting issues that arise from this are woven throughout our relationships, community organizations and movements.

This Conference offers tools and practice opportunities to broaden understanding and build authentic relationships across the societal divides. We do this in a diverse context that is highly interactive and includes creativity and play. Children and youth are full participants in partnership with the adults.

Be Present, Inc. is a national organization dedicated to building collective leadership for social justice. The Be Present Empowerment Model supports individuals, families and institutions to build and sustain lasting relationships and implement transformative change practices applicable in a broad variety of settings. These include education, philanthropy, public policy and community development. To heal the serious breakdown of care and connection in ourselves and our society, we must make conscious choices in our interactions; choices that break individual and collective silence, choices that create new avenues of trust and understanding.

WHAT IMPACT DO I HAVE?

In small and large groups, practice bringing your full self, knowledge and creativity to the conversation. Practice using tools for listening that replace assumptions with information. Bridge the gaps between what we know and how we act on our knowledge.

The time is now. Be a part of creating the kind of lasting transformative change we have been seeking. Come make it a reality... because we are the ones we have been waiting for!
