

How to Live Justly and Soulfully in A Deeply Divided World

In the midst of division, we long for community.
Our hearts know the way.

Sunday, June 23, 2013
2:00-4:00 p.m.
First Church Unitarian
19 Foster Street, Littleton, MA

Nancy Thurston knows something about honoring inner wisdom and tackling tough conversations. For over three decades, Nancy has worked to address and understand injustice through listening to diverse voices, diving into challenging conversations and engaging in transformative action.

Along the way, Nancy discovered that the way to change the system was to change her own life.

Join Nancy as she shares excerpts from her memoir, Big Topics at Midnight: A Texas Girl Wakes up To Race, Class, Gender and Herself, and facilitates a lively and creative inquiry into building lasting partnerships across differences.

For more information about this event, contact Caroline Marvin
617-899-1290, carolinemarvinphd@gmail.com

Co Sponsored by First Church Unitarian's MultiCultural Task Force and the Adult Enrichment Committees, Therapy Training Boston (www.therapytrainingboston.com), Bolder Giving (www.boldergiving.org), Harvest Time (www.harvesttime.cc) and Be Present, Inc. (www.bepresent.org).

Drawing by Book Illustrator Khara Scott-Bey. For more information about Nancy Thurston or Big Topics at Midnight see www.nancymthurston.com.

The divisions we most fear can become doorways to transformation.